CLUB CARNIVAL AND MERCHANT DAY

In Ball Circle

Club Carnival is held each year in Ball Circle to acquaint students with the various clubs on campus. It is sponsored by Inter-Club Council and provides clubs with an opportunity to recruit new members. There are a wide variety of clubs available to students, from politically affiliated clubs to service clubs to clubs in your major area of study. Clubs offer an opportunity for students to become involved in campus activities and provide a needed break from studying. And so, another successful Club Carnival goes down in history.

LEADERSHIP

Effective leadership incorporates an understanding of self, individuals, and the group process. A potential leader must attain this understanding before success follows.

When working as a leader one must make sure that followers feel a sense of encouragement, security, loyalty and thanks. It is in this manner that goals are reached and plans are carried out.

The Residence Life staff and student leaders underwent a vigorous training period before the start of the school year. The ideal behind the training was that of developing leadership skills. These students and staff members attended countless meetings where they were instructed in such areas as time planning, coping strategies and organization of events. This instruction led each person toward becoming yet another successful leader of MWC.

“A POSITIVE MENTAL ATTITUDE”

GoGetters is a get acquainted activity for freshmen designed to get them feeling good about their new surroundings. The program tries to show that here at Mary Washington we are all a group. Many group activities took place including finding people with your same color underwear and your birthday. Hula Hoop team races was another activity in which you realize that “College students can no longer hula hoop!”

The GoGetters representatives were Linda A. Sinram and Daniel C. Leete. They created a sense of closeness within the Freshman class before they left the Ball Room during Freshman Orientation in August.

New friends are made.

“Cheers with Diet Coke!”

That’s the color of your underwear?!

A rather crowded situation in the Ball Room.

R.A.'s and R.D.'s listen intently as they are going through a leadership training session.

"Staring intently into space?!"

"Student leaders are involved and concerned about the success of MWC and getting the Freshmen class involved."

MOVING IN — FROM

"Will all this ever fit into one bedroom?"

A typical dad! What would we do without them?

The weekend of August 23rd, students and parents arrived at MWC. After weeks of deciding what to bring and what not to, students piled all their belongings into boxes. How amazing that everything that was once found all over the house is now crammed into the back of the family car.

Parents found it especially difficult to find a parking space this year due to the new walkway. Adding to this problem was the rain which lasted most of the week and resulted in some slippery mud. After everything was in the room, students started to unpack, organize and decorate their rooms, ready to start another semester at MWC.

Freshmen cars, all packed up, flood the gates on a rainy morning.

George Wiggonton, R.A. in Custis, issues keys to Freshmen.

Student leaders help the Freshmen move in.

BOXES TO BEAUTY

For most students their dorm rooms become a way to express themselves and their possessions. After laying the carpet, a great necessity especially in the winter when the floors become ice cold, most students begin hanging posters and pictures on the walls. Each one makes the room look a little more like home. Many students opt for lofts, a great way to escape making the bed and providing much more space in the room. Others have added hammocks, "boats?!" and bars to heighten the uniqueness of their dorm rooms.

What's a kayak doing in your room?

FAMILY

ARA sponsored the Picnic in Ball Circle.

Family Weekend, held September 19-20, was considered a success by all who attended the event. The theme, "An All-American Weekend" was inspired by John Agnew. The emphasis was on entertainment this year. Some of the events were the showing of the movie, The Natural, and a dixie-land band. The Freshmen had the largest number of visitors. The Talent Show, sponsored by Circle K and the Afro-American Association, was also a great success and brought the Family Weekend to a close.

Family members remembered to bring a blanket.

The 12th annual Wo-Man Contest sponsored by Hamlet produced Micheal "Olga" Rickard, the 1986 Wo-Man, after a dance-off between him and Robert "Roberta" Noll. The dance-off left the audience screaming "Olga! Olga! Olga!" Ben Pierson gave MWC a new theme song entitled "The MWC Ratio Blues," bemoaning the four-one female ratio at MWC. After an evening gown, swimsuit and talent competitions, Chris "Christie" Richmond and Robert "Heady" Pike tied for second while Sam "Guinevere" Salih placed third.

Robert "Roberta" Noll Marshall's question, "What fruit would you like to be?"

Can I congratulate you?

"We're always ready for a game of one-on-one."

HALLOWEENS 1986

— A Tradition

The Halloween tradition carried on in full force by, not only ghosts and witches, but flashers, cavemen and dorm housekeepers as well. The party, held in Goolrick, was a success once again. Music by "Casper" provided extensive dancing and entertainment.

Prizes were once again awarded to the best creative geniuses on campus. Winners of the single contest were Michelle Linden as a Kodak Instamatic Camera and an unknown student as a shower. The first place winner in the group contest were Greg Jones as the Wheel of Fortune and his girlfriend, Dina, as Vana White. The second place winners were a Basketball and Hoop.

David Parchen dressed up as Dean Weinstock with padded shoulders and shoes tied to his knees so he could walk on them.

Students had a great time seeing what everyone was going as. Many students spent a lot of time, money and effort trying to make their costume the most creative or the funniest!

Anne Lewis and Ken Plaia provide entertainment for the event.

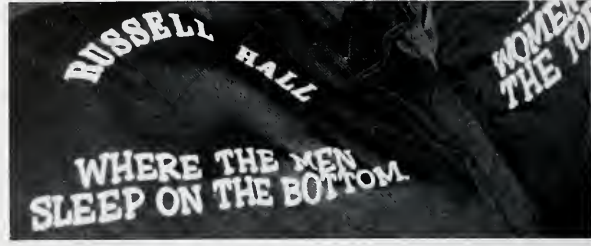

Sampling of non-alcoholic beverages over some good conversation may be a first for a Friday at MWC.

On Friday, October 24, a new tradition began at Mary Washington. The Association of Resident Halls and Residence Life sponsored "Mock-Tails" as a part of a series of activities during Alcohol Awareness Week, October 19-25. Each dorm set up a table on the walk in front of ACL, serving its own "mocktail" to students. "Mocktails" consisted of simple non-alcoholic recipes.

Musical

Many close friends of the band members enjoy their performance.

Band members include Randy, Ty, Mike, Pete and Kenny.

The band Pete Keys and the Poor Boys, is partially made up of MWC students. As part of Alcohol Awareness Week this year they were one of the scheduled events in the Pub on a Thursday night, which at the time was a non-alcoholic night on campus. Those who attended knew what they were all about. They play classic songs such as the Rolling Stone's hit single "Satisfaction". They performed at many parties last year including the Mercer party and several Custis Mixers.

Entertainment

Rusty Speidel and Tom Goodrich of SGL have a good time making music at the MWC amphitheater.

The harmony of SGL rocks MWC into the evening.

Students wait anxiously for the show to begin.

The Student Association Entertainment Committee went all out in the 1986-87 school year to bring MWC students good music that was professional and affordable. The committee, headed by chairman Chris Logan, was not interested in making a profit, but in supplying the student body of MWC with some great music and a great time. A perfect example of their successful efforts was the live band SGL, who performed Saturday, September 6 in the amphitheater. A terrific time was had by all, and the SGL event forecasted some wild weekends to come throughout the year.

Freshman Class Officers Induction

The Class Council Freshmen Officers and Judicial Representatives were sworn in, in a ceremony in the Ballroom by already existing student leaders and friends of the Representatives. Some of Their activities include selling pumpkins for Halloween, a Mixer in Seacobeck basement, and the Halloween movies, Freddy's Revenge and Nightmare on Elm Street in the Ballroom.

Recreation

What an excellent catch!

"It's Thursday at the Pub!"

There are many forms of recreation on campus. Some students choose to throw a frisbee in ball circle and get some exercise, and others enjoy drinking a few beers at a party or dancing in the pub. No matter what your preference, they are all good ways to meet new people and enjoy college life.

January's Snow Mania

A few inches of snow are always expected. Students always hope a professor or two won't show up for class. But no one expected the nearly two feet of snow that blanketed Fredericksburg, closing campus for five days. While most saw the snow as bothersome, MWC students found the week a time for fun — sledding, football and maybe a little studying. Well, maybe not studying.

AAE and Miss Pub

The Art Awareness Ensemble performed on February 7th in the Ballroom. More than 700 people danced and listened to the Reggae band.

Known as AAE, they are a band from Jamaica but are currently a Richmond based band. They are frequently on tour in the VA/DC area, playing at many colleges and nightclubs.

Students enjoyed the music and the relaxed atmosphere of a party in the Ballroom. This was one of Mary Washington's best groups this year!

The Senior class sponsored the annual "Miss Pub" contest. Contestants had to perform a show using a gun, streamer and a ball. Other competitions included dance, a creative way to play quarters, swimsuit and the fastest drinker. Spectators watched with enthusiasm. Ellen Henderson was crowned Miss Pub 1987. Creativity was definitely a deciding factor . . . what to do was the hardest part.

And the winner is . . . Ellen Henderson.

Ellen seems to have won the fastest drinker contest.

Carl Rosen

Musical comedian, Carl Rosen, performed February 5th in the pub to an enthusiastic crowd. The best way to describe Carl would be a "piano playing Robin Williams." Born in Long Island, NY, he has performed for 6 years. He is not only a whiz on the keyboard but also does satirical commentaries and takeoffs. Carl's music contains original works as well as those of other artists. A special addition to the show was a song written by Rosen called "Death Waltz" which was dedicated to the postal workers killed in Oklahoma.

Audience involvement is one of the best loved parts of his show. Before the first note was played, Carl threw out bite-size candy to the crowd. During the show, audience members were randomly selected to play various percussion instruments and even provide backup vocals.

Romance

LET'S HEAR IT FOR . . .

Romance '86-87

A Special Section

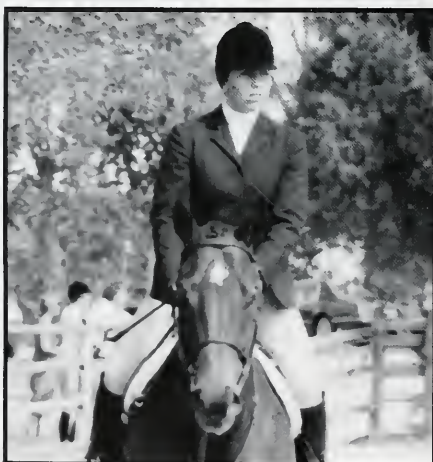

Romance

The students of Mary Washington held many different opinions and definitions of romance on campus. For some, Mary Washington was the perfect place for love and romance to grow. There was a beautiful campus, a promising social scene, no curfews or pressures from home, and one's romantic partner was only a short distance away. For others, Mary Washington was limiting when it came to romance. The campus was small with an uneven ratio of males to females, the social atmosphere was recently limited by the new alcohol policy and the frustrating visitation policies, and for those whose romantic partner was far away, the weekends could become very long. However, the opportunity for new, old or true love often turned our world upside down. John Greenleaf Whittier defined romance as "(something) always young." Indeed, romance was always "young," always changing, always new and unpredictable. For many, it was a growing experience. Romance and love, for better or worse, was alive and well on Mary Washington campus.

The Men's Soccer team completed the Fall 1986 season with a 12-7-2 record which was an outstanding result for a squad which featured fifteen new players, thirteen of them freshmen. After a slow start, four losses in the first six games, the team "put it together" with ten wins and two ties in the final fifteen contest. The result of this success was an invitation to the ECAC post-season tournament. The Eagle booters went on to win the ECAC South Region Championship before losing to nationally ranked Middlebury College in the Semi-final round of the tournament. Valuable players included Chris Pack, Shane Shackford, Chris Bennett, David Lausten, Glenn Smith and John Agnew.

This year Women's Soccer was added to the list of Intercollegiate Sports at MWC. Under the coaching of Pete Ginnegar these aggressive women proved to be quite a successful first year team. This was Coach Ginnegar's first time coaching a women's team and felt that the team possessed considerable talent. He considered himself lucky to be coaching a team that showed so much potential. "The key to a successful season is the team, not the coach," said Ginnegar. And successful season they were. During portions of the season the team was nationally ranked and they maintained an outstanding record throughout the season. Liz Proutt and Gretchen Treible were co-captains for this first year team.

Men's Cross Country

It was predicted that the 1986 Men's Cross Country Team would be the most successful in the school's brief seven-year history, and it was. The mixture of veterans and newcomers produced a 16-6 record against Division III teams, including first-time victories over rivals Washington & Lee University and Lynchburg College. The team, led by Mike Good and Michael Teaster, placed well in state and conference championships and capped the season with a 5th place finish at the NCAA South/Southeast Regional Championship.

Several members from the 1985 Cross Country team that placed 11th in the NCAA National Championships returned to lead this year's team. Peggy McKelvey, Linda Neuls and Pam Shillingsburg led a group of new faces including several freshmen who should crack the top group. Cheryl Cassidy, Brooke Fillmore and Beth Kaweck are members of this group. Brooke Fillmore and Amy Camacho are two freshmen who consistently placed in the top five during the season. "The team's goal this year was to again place among the top three teams in the Mason Dixon Conference and defend their titles in the Virginia State Division II/III meet and the NCAA South/Southeast Regional meet," said Coach Soper. The women's team placed second in the state meet. Peggy McKelvey and Brooke Fillmore also made the All-State team.

The womens tennis team proved they had the mechanical and physical ability to obtain a winning season. With only one loss, these women ended with an 11-1 season record, which they were quite proud of. This year the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association announced that Mary Washington would host the Rolex South Eastern Women's Small College Championship. This tournament provides more opportunities and recognition for the many talented tennis players from non-Division I Colleges. From Mary Washington, Suzie Groan made it to the quarter main draw.

The MWC Riding team is a member of the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association Region VII consisting of nine schools. This year they participated in events against schools such as the University of Virginia, the University of Maryland and William and Mary. Each year the riders participate in eight to ten regular point shows as well as in regional and national competitions. On October 5th, MWC hosted a show at Hazelwood Farm. At the close of the show MWC was named the Reserve Champion High Point College. Claire Mayes was Reserve Champion High Point Rider. Twenty-three riders from MWC competed in the show and among them they earned seventeen firsts and seconds.

If you want to know how athletic, aggressive, and competitive an MWC female can be, just attend a field hockey game. Whoever said women were inferior obviously has not seen these girls battle it out on the field.

This year's team returned to the playing field with seven of last year's starters and hopes of improving last year's fifth place ranking in the region. Their goals this year to obtain national ranking and move up in the regional rankings were met head on. They started the season well, ranking third in the first weekly poll. The hard part came when they had to maintain this status throughout the season, but they managed to pull it off.

Pam Heller and Stephanie Shupe were two of the team's outstanding players. Anne Marie Hall handled the defensive duties well. The tri-captains this year included Pam Heller, Linda Ware and sophomore Winni Boggs.

With eleven returning players and another talented group of newcomers, the Men's Basketball Team could look forward to another good season. And a successful one they had with a 16-11 record. The team, behind senior Buddy Hawley won the Eastern College Athletic Conference Division II title with an 86-85 win over Ferrum. Hawley and Matt D'Ercole were both named to the All-Tournament Team. Buddy Hawley was also named to the first team in South Atlantic Region, and then finished 20th in the voting for National All-American honors.

The 1986-87 Women's Basketball Team, coached by Connie Gallahan, did not have one of their most successful seasons (2-22); however, they are looking forward to the return of 10 of the 13 players for next year. The team was very young with alot of new players. The three graduating tri-captains, Jeanette Bergmann, Rene Thomas, and Anne Zemienieuski will be missed greatly, as they have contributed four years of hustle and hard work to the team. Rene Thomas led the team in scoring while Jeanette Bergmann led in assists and steals. Bergmann and Thomas were also named to the E.C.A.C. Athletic Honor Roll; additionally, teammates have been quoted as saying, "Anne Z. is the emotional backbone and leader of the team."

The Men's and Women's Swim and Dive team had a very successful year with a strong team. The Men's team had a 3-8 (win/loss) record. The team lead by captain Scott Bashore broke ten school records. Freshmen, Dan Hall was the outstanding swimmer.

The Women's team lead by captain Robin Crowder had a 13-3 record. Six school records were broken. Kristen Spencer was an "individual record breaker."

Each team only graduated one person. Coach Paul Richards expects that next years team will even be better due to more experience gained from this year.

Ready, Set, Go!

MWC Cheerleading

The MWC Cheerleaders are a hardworking and dedicated group. Their main goal is to get students motivated to support the school with enthusiasm and pride. These cheerleaders are very serious about accomplishing this goal. Many long hours, including weekends, were spent practicing routines, mounts, and cheers. Perhaps their most difficult job is thinking of new ways to promote spirit at MWC, but this year's squad proved they could get students involved in MWC athletics.

The distance runners continued to be the strength of the Men's Team. Mike Good, Tim

The Women's Team was a balance of distance and sprinters and jumpers. Wini Boggs, a sophomore newcomer to the team, and Brooke Fillmore, a freshman, constantly placed in the distance races.

Water Polo

What?....NO horses? A new sport hit Goolrick pool this year, water polo. Water polo is a sport that combines the skills of both basketball and soccer. According to Coach Richards, "It is one of the most physically demanding games anywhere, but it is also a good spectator sport because there is a lot of action and the game has to keep going." The team received a grant from the United States Olympic Water Polo Committee that appropriated funds for the start of the team. Since no one had ever played the game they were there to learn the skills of the game and have fun while doing it.

The club was looking forward to a very "big time season," according to club sponsor Dr. Warner and coach David Steckler. And what a successful season they had. The club had a winning record, and are ranked second in the stat behind Va. Tech.

This year marked the addition of Men's Lacrosse to the list of varsity sports. The season was one of learning. Many players had little or no experience playing lacrosse. Coach Ginnegar taught the fundamentals of the game as well as team work. Everyday there was improvement in some area.

The team went up against some pretty tough competition, including Michigan State, VMI and Lynchburg College. Their success cannot be measured in terms of wins and losses, but rather in terms of experience and respect gained. This season they achieved both.

The Women's Lacrosse Team returned this year with 11 of last year's players. Pam Heller, 1986 National First Team All American, and Rene Thomas, Regional All American, returned to head up the team. They, along with Tricia Cassidy, formed the foundation on which the rest of the team built. The team worked well together to have a successful season.

Although the Men's Tennis Team did not have a lot of collegiate experience to start with, they gained a lot this year. After facing some tough teams this year, they were able to test their playing abilities. Even though the number of victories was not what the team had hoped for, they did gain respect.

Without the dedicated coordinator, Crystal Branch, the intramural program would not have been a success. Kickball, flag football, volleyball, basketball and softball were the games played this year.

Each dorm had at least one team compete in each tournament. The accumulation of points determined who advanced to the championship tournament.

Intramurals gave the dorms the opportunity to compete against each other in a friendly and fun way.

MWC Crew Club

The MWC Crew Club, a massive coed organization, has made quite a name for themselves in the past few years and this year was just as spectacular. For those who traveled north to Occoquan Reservoir to cheer on the Crew members, it was very impressive to watch MWC be competitive with very powerful, long-established teams from large, Division I Universities. The Crew Club members say that the long season of 5:00 am morning runs and twice-a-day practices was well rewarded by their success.

The Frisbee Club at MWC is a fun-loving group of males and females who enjoy engaging in two basic frisbee games: Ultimate, which is similar to football, and Freestyle, which involves tricks and acrobatics with frisbees. The MWC Club has participated in a small number of tournaments including the Virginia State Frisbee Championships held here in Fredericksburg. In addition to their regular practice drills and games, the club members may be seen on occasion performing crazy stunts like the famous mud-puddle dive!

DEDICATION

STEVE BROWN

On April 5th, 1986, Steve Brown's life changed drastically. No longer was Steve the friendly Rugby player everyone saw on campus. Instead he slipped into a coma and has not yet regained his faculties.

Since that April Day when he was struck by a car, family and friends have been hoping and praying for Steve's full recovery. Members of the Mary Washington College community are also hoping for his full recovery. This 1987 Battlefield is dedicated to you, Steve, as our way of saying, "We love you. Everyone is pulling for you. Don't give up the fight now!"

Well the year is rapidly drawing to a close, and this year's Battlefield has been quite an experience. The staff has changed the look of the Battlefield. The "photo cover" is a new idea, with a variety of colors to catch your eye. Hopefully, the layout is clearer. We provided dividers for each section, and class name boards for the student photo section. A longer closing was added and a dedication page included. Our biggest change was that this year, 1986-87, will be the first year that Mary Washington College will have A COMPLETE FULL YEAR YEARBOOK. Included will be the popular Spring Time Activities: 87th and 100th night, N.Y. trip, Boat Cruise, Junior Ring

OVERVIEW

Week, Rites of Spring Weekend, Seniors Dead Week Events and Graduation. This full year spectrum will be continued. We hope you have enjoyed this yearbook and hope it was worth waiting till September to receive it!

Kristen Benedetto
Editor-in-Chief 1987

"When all is said and done" relates to Mary Washington College

The theme "When all is said and done" was developed early in the year when the Battlefield staff had no idea how or if all the changes were going to work out. Mary Washington College has seen many changes in several areas.

The name has remained but the image of Mary Washington has changed. The image change can be seen on all official MWC publications, catalogs, letterheads and brochures. They are now stressing more than ever the new motto "Mary Washington College — A proud state supported institution of the Commonwealth of Virginia with an academically strong student body of 3,000 men and women."

The school mascot has been changed to "The Eagles." Many complained that it was plain and unexciting but it seems to be catching on. I've seen people with "Eagles" t-shirts, sweatshirts and gym bags. The colors were changed to a deeper blue, white and the addition of a third color, grey. Team uniforms are looking better already. The newly painted gym looks like a REAL college gym.

Improvements were made in the aesthetics of the campus — the new campus walk provides more student interaction. The benches were installed for a quiet place to study, relax or just talk with a special friend. The construction of the campus center is moving along and should be opened in September 1987. The campus center will hopefully improve communication among students and faculty. And maybe, just maybe, Mercer and Willard residents won't have to wake up to early morning construction noises any longer.

Once again Mary Washington has made its way into the headlines of the "Free-Lance Star" (maybe one too many). Residents of Fredericksburg and members of local churches seemed concerned with our visitation and alcohol policies. The Board of Visitors has finally made a change in the visitation policy. Starting Fall 1987 all upper class halls will be allowed 24-hour visitation on weekends, and Freshmen halls will vote on it second semester if the dorm G.P.A. is 2.0 or higher.

Along with the traditionally held activities, new programs have been created. Mocktails was a non-alcoholic happy-hour with each hall making a different drink, alcohol free. Many students attended this walkway party which symbolized the start of "MWC — A New Beginning."

The annual activities of Devil-Goat Day and Grill on the Hill were combined into a new tradition of "The Rites of Spring Weekend." This outdoor weekend gave students a chance to enjoy the spring sunshine, play a few games, and eat 1,500 hamburgers and hotdogs.

Battle of the Halls was a new idea created by the office of Residence Life to unite the halls through competition in a wide variety of events ranging from the roommate game and the scavenger hunt to the logo and photography contest.

Second semester, the strict alcohol policy implemented in the fall was modified to bring back the sale of beer on Thursday nights at the Pub and after 5:00 p.m. on weeknights in the c-shop.

Snow was the big topic of conversation in January, with two snowstorms hitting in four days. The "Snowstorms of 1987" were survived by MWC students pretty well! Classes were cancelled for 3½ days making for one big vacation type party that lasted for 6 consecutive days including the weekend! Students were reported to actually have been sick of partying! The snow was enjoyed by students with a campus wide snow-ball fight, sleigh riding and good outside fun.

The Resident Director position was upgraded and RD's faced re-applying for the higher level position, "Resident Coordinator." Their jobs were not guaranteed so Resident Directors faced uncertainty and were unhappy with the situation.

Many improvements, changes and decisions have been made this year that will have a lasting impression on the future of this fine institution. The future looks bright for Mary Washington with the completion of the campus center, the new library, new dorms and the possibility of a "Homecoming Weekend" coming up in the fall. This year turned out to be truly "A New Beginning" and when ALL IS SAID AND DONE — Mary Washington is THE place to be!

A NEW LOOK FOR THE COLLEGE

Perhaps you noticed that the cover of this Mary Washington College Battlefield has a different appearance from previous volumes. The new format is one of several changes which include a new logo and typeface for publications and letterheads, new school colors, and a new mascot. All the changes grew out of many months of study involving the various constituents of the College — students, faculty, administrators, and Alumni — as well as professional expertise provided by a design firm.

From its introduction almost 10 years ago, the MWC logo has often been characterized as too modern or “futuristic” to convey accurately the traditional nature of the College. This view was strongly supported by Walker Johanson, executive director of the firm commissioned by the College to assist in developing a new graphic identity. According to Johanson, extensive use of the MWC designation prevented the College from capitalizing on the “powerful association” which could be derived from using the Washington name. He maintained that, in developing a new graphic identity, the College should make every effort to emphasize such an association, rather than continue to minimize it by using the MWC abbreviation.

Accordingly, the new logo consists of a medallion featuring Mary Washington and her son, George. The design is predicated upon a desire to accomplish three primary goals: to convey the traditional nature of the College; to identify the historical Mary Washington by associating her visually with her prominent son — perhaps the most recognizable figure in all of American history; and to suggest the coeducational status of the College by depicting both a female and a male. The typeface (known technically as ITC Garamond Book Condensed) is designed to be compatible with the traditional image conveyed by the medallion itself.

The new logo, incidentally, does not replace the official seal of the College. The seal has been retained, with its usage reserved mainly for materials and documents of a more formal nature, such as diplomas and various institutional awards.

The movement to select a new mascot and new school colors originated with the 1985-86 Student Association leaders, who expressed student concerns about these matters to the College administration. In response, President William M. Anderson Jr. established the Advisory Committee on College Relations, a group of representatives from all sections of the College community, including Alumni, to study the matter. The committee was given the responsibility of making recommendations to the president based upon suggestions gained from these various sources.

According to College Executive Vice President A. R. Merchant, who chaired the committee, the formation of the study group constituted “the first time that consideration had been given to such matters on a systematic basis. Previously there had really been no plan. But this time, in reviewing the mascot and colors, we had the opportunity to gather ideas and advice from a wide range of interested groups.”

From the outset, Merchant noted, the committee found its task to be both more complicated and more enlightening than its members had anticipated initially. It was necessary, for example, to select colors and mascot which were compatible with each other, were appropriate to the College, and did not duplicate those of rival institutions. Among a number of practical considerations was the need to select colors which could be readily reproduced on athletic uniforms, sweatshirts, and various institution accouterments.

Interestingly, the committee quickly learned that very few people knew the origin of the “Blue Tide” nickname or understood what it represented. According to Athletic Director Edward H. Hegmann, the College actually had no mascot at all when he joined the faculty in 1976. There really had not been a compelling need for one, he noted, since the intercollegiate athletic program then was quite limited. However, as the varsity sports program expanded to include a wide range of intercollegiate teams for both men and women, the need for a mascot became apparent.

A rather informal process led to the subsequent selection of the nickname, “Blue Tide.” At the time the nickname was chosen, the women’s swimming team, which was having a very successful season at that point, had adopted a rallying cry from a song which was currently popular whose lyrics contained the admonition, “Don’t cross the river (Rappahannock?) if you can’t swim the tide.” Consequently, perhaps influenced by the University of Alabama’s well-known “Crimson Tide” nickname, the concept of “tide” was combined with one of the existing school colors to form “Blue Tide.” Thus selected by the most students in an informal Bullet poll, “Blue Tide” became, almost by default, the quasi-official nickname/mascot.

As the Advisory Committee on College Relations proceeded with its deliberations during the 1985-86 session, it became evident that a substantial portion of the student body favored replacing "Blue Tide." One reason was that virtually no one knew what the term was supposed to mean—a situation which had frequently led to the suggestion over the years (especially by opposing athletic teams and their followers) that the Mary Washington mascot was a laundry detergent! Another, more substantial, reason was the difficulty which "Blue Tide" presented in terms of graphic representation on athletic uniforms and on printed materials, as well as the impossibility of using it in any way as a costumed mascot to generate spirit at athletic events.

The search for an alternative elicited numerous suggestions, some of them whimsical, but most of them serious and usually involving names which related either to the history of the Fredericksburg area (e.g., "Patriots," "Colonials") or to the traditions of the College itself (e.g., "Devilgoats"). Attempts to relate to certain existing names on campus, such as the newspaper (The Bullet), yearbook (Battlefield), and sports facilities (Battle-ground athletic complex), produced several suggestions connoting military themes: "Bullets," "Bayonets," "Cannons," and "Militia." The state bird, the cardinal, was also suggested since it is not used by any other state college.

Ultimately, the committee recommended "Eagles," the name which had received preponderant support in several student polls. According to Merchant, the eagle was not only a popular choice among students but was also appropriate to the College for several reasons. "For one thing," he said, "the bird is native to this area. In fact, a protected aerie has recently been established in King George County upriver from George Washington's birthplace." Moreover, he pointed out, the eagle, being a national symbol, presents an image "consistent with a college named for the mother of the father of the country."

Upon examining the issue of school colors, the Advisory Committee on College Relations found surprisingly strong sentiment in favor of change. In its search for alternative possibilities, the committee discovered that, contrary to the prevailing assumption, the College's colors historically were not light blue and white. Dr. Edward Alvey Jr.'s official history of the College reveals that the colors originally chosen shortly after the College opened in 1908 were blue and green, representing, according to Alvey, "the blue of the sky and the green of the cedars" on Marye's Heights. Subsequently, for reasons which are obscure, the colors were changed to brown and gold, which prevailed throughout the 1920s and most of the 1930s. It was only when the name of the College was changed to Mary Washington in 1938 that blue and white became the official colors.

Even those colors changed, albeit not by design, in the ensuing years. The original blue had cluding several open hearings, the committee discovered that students tended to favor retention of blue and white as school colors, with a darker, more vivid shade of blue—more akin to the traditional shade—substituted for the existing lighter blue. In addition, the committee came to feel that three colors would be more effective than two, largely because of the greater options which this would provide for the designing of publications, uniforms, and other College-related materials.

Based upon research which included student polls as well as a sampling of Alumni opinions at Homecoming '86, the committee's recommendations were presented, via the president, to the Board of Visitors. At its Sept. 20, 1986, meeting, the Board approved navy blue, gray, and white as the official school colors. They also adopted the eagle as the official mascot at the same time. One Board member commented that, given the location of the College proximal to a major Civil War site, the new colors were most appropriate, with blue representing the Union, gray representing the Confederacy, and white representing peace.

Implementation of the new logo and typeface, colors, and mascot is currently underway. Already, according to Executive Assistant to the President William B. Crawley Jr., the response from students has been most favorable. "They seem particularly enthusiastic about the new mascot," he said, noting that it was student advocacy which had initially prompted the study which led to the change. "As a result of consensus gained from a broad spectrum of the College community, we now have, for the first time, a set of graphic symbols which appropriately reflect the location, history, and tradition of Mary Washington College."

been of dark hue, but, when at one point it became difficult to secure certain materials in that particular shade, a lighter blue was substituted and eventually supplanted the "true" College blue. Consequently, the lighter blue—known variously as Columbia, Carolina, powder, sky, or baby blue—came during recent times to be accepted, along with white, as an official school color.

Volume 74 of the Mary Washington College Battlefield is printed by offset printers and color is produced on a 6 color offset printer. It is printed by Hunter Publishing Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Paper: 80 lb Gloss Enamel for pages 1-16. Pages 17-224 are 80 lb matte Enamel. The ink throughout the book is Hunter Black.

Endsheets: Base color grey; #107 Gate fold.

Type: Most type is Helvetica.

Class photographs were taken by Bill Buttrum Photography of Fredericksburg. The Battlefield staff occupied an office in the Owl's Nest of Ann Carter Lee Hall, Mary Washington College. All full time students received Volume 74 at no additional cost. All fees were covered by the 1986-1987 Comprehensive fee. Volume 74 sold to part time students and the general public for $18 in 1987. Inquiries should be sent to the Battlefield, Mary Washington College, 1301 College Avenue, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22402.

Recognition

Recognition and much thanks goes out to the following people without whose help there would not have been a 1987 Battlefield: All Editors and Staff, Kimberly Daley, Jay Bradshaw, Wendy Stone, Bette Luttrell, Tally Booker, Mary Nigro, Teresa Smith, Sue Fox, Sue Bell and Joe Mancuso — 1987 Advisor. Also Jim Ellis of Hunter Publishing and you the students who make up this book.

Dedication

The 1987 Battlefield is dedicated to Steve Brown, a Mary Washington College student and Rugby player who was hit by a car last spring and is still hospitalized. Many students know him through classes, Rugby, or his smiling face on campus. The Battlefield staff and the Mary Washington College community pray for his recovery. This dedication is a chance for us to say, "WE LOVE YOU, STEVE!"
